OnSolve Strategic Security Analysis

Technology-enabled intelligence analysis

Organizations face an increasingly complex and dynamic risk landscape. As risks multiply, so does the volume of data generated, necessitating the integration of advanced technologies like artificial intelligence (AI) to streamline processes and enhance efficiency of risk management teams.

Optimizing the Value of Technology Partnerships

As organizations embrace AI for risk intelligence and alerting technology, many are looking for technology partners to provide both industry-leading software and complementary intelligence services that strengthen their resilience and security management.

OnSolve® helps organizations take a proactive approach to risk and manage resources more effectively with on-demand access to analysts for deeper insights into risk themes, topics or events. Our team of analysts leverage OnSolve AI-powered technology to contextualize dynamic risks impacting our customers and help them better prepare for future risk.

Strategic Security Analysis

Strategic Security Analysis provides deeper insights into risk themes and forecasts dynamic risks like geopolitical conflict, protests and climate risks. Our mission is to provide a deeper understanding of the risk landscape and empower our customers' use of the OnSolve Platform. Our intelligence reports help organizations proactively forecast risk, manage security resources efficiently, improve situational awareness and build business cases needed to fund and deploy the right security measures.

Strategic Security Analysis:

Risk Landscape	Location Analysis	Event Planning	Customizable & On-Demand
Develop a clear understanding of organizational risk; answer strategic questions about specific risks (e.g., supply chain, loss prevention, trend analysis); and gain a global outlook on present and emergent threats.	Dive deep into specific regions and locations to better advise on travel risks or new facility planning. Access historical risk analysis to uncover trends and statistics around a specific location or fixed asset.	Receive in-depth threat analysis for event planning; provide executive protection teams and security leaders with the risk analysis needed to plan and execute security and risk management measures during special events.	Receive fully customized intelligence reports with organizational branding and your formatting preferences, delivered across a range of mediums, and request or schedule briefings to review the reports.
